Unfortunately communication with Grand Manan had been cut off some time before through the breaking of the cable, so that no information could be obtained from there. It was expected some of the steamers would be off Cannet rock light by mid-night and that Woodbury could reach the scene by five o'clock. It was felt that they would be

MEMORIAL FOR JUDGE C. A. BARNES.

The following memorial for Judge Charles A. Barnes was adopted at a meeting of the Literary union:

Judge Barnes became a member of the Literary union in 1899, following his father and brother. His death, across the sea, leaves the union, for the first time in 40 years, without the name of a Barnes on its roll. He was thoroughly loyal to the union, faithful in its attendance, and taking his turn as leader, usually choosing topics of practical importance and of present and special interest. He was president when his health failed and he had to go away to recruit; but in his absence he kept alive his interest by expressing his enjoyment of the meetings and his appreciation of his fellowship with the members. He traveled much, met many men, became widely known, and formed a large circle of friends and the rich experience of this extended acquaintance he gave unreservedly to the members, as well as the fruits of a successful professional career. Whatever he had, he gave to us.

His character and conduct were an open book. His sincerity and genuine friendship could be read in every line and by every one. He was a noble specimen of sound and symmetrical manhood. To an unusual degree, he had those qualities which go to make up the ideal man. Strength and gentleness, integrity, and benevolence, geniality and dignity, the sterner and softer virtues found in him happy combination. Always and everywhere he was a gentleman. High bred courtesy marked all he said and did. His parental training made him a pre-eminently a lover of righteousness and he sacredly cherished and cultivated that righteous love to the end of his life. He could always be counted on as a brave advocate of what he believed to be right and an open and uncompromising foe of what he believed to be wrong. He was a man of strong convictions and he was always true to his convictions and candid in the avowal of them; yet he was charitable to the convictions of others and never allowed a difference of view to interfere with the claims of friendship.

This untimely ending of his life is a great loss to us. It leaves our union a broken circle. It cuts deep into the tender ties, which years of delightful association have woven between us.

We, therefore, in common sorrow, would express our deepest sympathy with the sorrowing family and our share in their grief and loss.

FARMERS ATTENTION

Geo. S. Gay, Jacksonville, Ill., wish to announce that they have arranged with the American Steel & Wire Company for a moving picture entertainment of great interest to the farmers. This is entitled "Through the Furnace to the Farm," and deals with the manufacture of steel, especially the nails, barbed wire and woven wire fence used on the farm.

There are 5,000 feet of film in five reels, and these are just a few of the scenes shown:
Mining with giant steam shovels.
Mammoth Clam-Shell buckets.
Huge Ore-carrying boats.
Blast Furnace in action.
Drawing off the Molten Pig Iron.
Bessemer and Open Hearth Processes.

A train load of white hot ingots.
Coiling out the plastic metal.
Cold wire drawing.
Galvanizing.
Weaving wire fence.

The proper way to build fence on the farm.

These have been pronounced the greatest industrial pictures of the age, and it is worth while for any farmer to see them. Admission is by ticket only. Any farmer may obtain free tickets for himself and family by calling on Geo. S. Gay, Jacksonville. Don't forget the time and the place, Jan. 16th, Friday, at Scott's Theatre at 1:30 p. m.

LITERBERRY.

Miss Annabel Crum returned home Saturday, after a ten days visit in Jacksonville.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Beavers and son, James Robert, left for Texas last Thursday morning for an indefinite visit through the south.

Mrs. M. M. Crum and Mrs. W. E. Murray visited at Sunshine cottage Tuesday afternoon.

Ottie Holt of Lone Oak, Crackers Bend, came up to Literberry Wednesday on business. Mr. Holt informs us the Benders are doing fine. He reports a number of cases of hog cholera.

Mrs. John Hitchens and daughters Edith and Olive, spent Thursday evening at Sunshine Cottage.

This office is under obligations to J. M. Litter for a beautiful and useful calendar for the year 1914. Many thanks.

Mrs. Susanna Henderson was calling on her friends Sunday evening and is almost as spry as any of the young people notwithstanding her 84 years.

We saw the working out of a peculiar puzzle at the post office Saturday morning, which at one time, looked as though it might turn out to be a tragedy of good dimensions. Prof. Jones had worn all his collars and came to the conclusion that they were fit for the laundry, he asked Mrs. Jones to put them up into a nice package suitable for carrying. Mrs. Jones spent a good part of the morning putting up those pestiferous contrary collars, and failed to make them into a neat package. When she saw she had failed to accomplish anything, and being a woman of good sense and having a streak of fun in her make up, she saw a chance, about the best she ever did see, until he tried to corral those slick collars. After using up a quarter's worth of paper, and the job not even begun, he wanted to know if there was any one in the room that could swear right heartily. We informed him that Literberry had no experts in that line, but if he had a case worthy of a real old timer, we would send down to the Bend and get him a past grand master. He said the case demanded about such as that, but he was in a hurry. J. A. Litter took up the case and soon had his hands full, and then some. A half dozen men tried to help him, but in spite of all, these collars would crawl out and spread themselves all over the counter, and right here we all took a rest, while one of the boys went over to the depot to get Earl Underbrink to assist. Of course we had no faith in Brink's ability, but we did want to see him downed. Brinkie was too busy to respond, so J. A. Litter rolled up his sleeves and went after those collars and in a few minutes the fun was over, and the Professor acknowledged, a smoke was on him.

Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Petefish gave a six o'clock dinner Wednesday evening at their commodious home on East Capitol street, to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Beavers and son James Robert; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Litter, Mr. and Mrs. D. K. McCarty and Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDonald and Mr. J. C. McMillen. This was a Literberry dinner and you know what this means. We are glad to report the company were equal to the emergency.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Litter, Mr. and Mrs. Durrell Crum and Reverend Dickman, took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Ennis, of Peoria avenue on Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Dickman, on Sunday morning at the Baptist church, delivered an exceedingly fine sermon on the "Dew Christians and the Lion Christians." We were sorry there were not more out to hear this good sermon.

THIS BANK— REAL BANKING SERVICE—

Real Banking Service is more than a matter of dollars and cents—more than a matter of principal and interest.

Real Banking Service is based on human interest and principles.

A man or woman, boy or girl starts an account—this at first only represents so much money.

As time goes on the depositor learns that this bank means more to him than merely a place to put his money. He acquires the banking habit, gets acquainted with the bank officials and forms a bank relationship—more than merely an acquaintance.

He becomes known at the bank. In time business or professional opportunities come. He needs advice or help. He comes to this bank for it. The advice he receives is dependable and is cheerfully given.

He finds that character, personality, individuality—call it what you may—is a real business asset—one that he can bank on—one that is a great help to him in his business affairs.

Later he has us draw his will, makes us his executor, knowing that our charges are moderate, that in case of his death his estate will be handled by men who know how and that his wishes will be carried out promptly, economically and safely.

For this is his bank. The bank knows him—helps and advises him on matters financial, just as his doctor and lawyer advise him on matters of health and law.

To get the best out of your bank, select it now for its character, strength and service. Then stay with it and grow with it.—THIS BANK

Repeat Orders

Sometimes a man will be talked into buying a thing and afterwards regret it. But if he repeats the order it shows that the article is staple and its importance grows with familiarity. Now listen:

Babcock Fire Extinguishers are a staple. Those who know them best buy most freely.

The State Institutions of this city have been using them for 40 years and they buy more every year. Our Savior's Hospital bought several years ago and have since increased the number. Passavant Hospital first bought 2, then added 10. The Woman's College bought 11 and a year later bought 27 more. The Trustees of Illinois College, after having them in their own homes for years, bought 28 for the college buildings.

In business, Harry Frankel bought 1, then 2; Copps & Frank bought 2, then 1; Elmie Bros. 3, then 7. There are but instances.

WIZARD OF TYPEWRITER SHOWS WONDERFUL SKILL

Astonishing Work of Emil Trefzger On Useful Machine—Marvels of Stenotype are Illustrated.

Last evening a deeply interested audience saw at Brown's Business college an illustration of what man can do when trained and possessing the natural aptitude.

The first number on the program was music by the orchestra of the college and which might almost be called improvised as it was but a day old and the music supplied by the young players was excellent.

The great feature of the evening was the work of Emil A. Trefzger, second in the world's champion contest, the first being Miss Margaret B. Owen. At the annual business show in New York last fall writing an hour from copy not seen before, though a printed sheet, Miss Owen wrote 125 words a minute for an hour and Mr. Trefzger wrote 120. During that time something over 100,000 strokes were made, fifteen sheets of paper were used and had to be changed or inserted in the machine and for each error five words were deducted.

Miss Owen wrote 7,925 words, had 86 errors or 430 deductions. Mr. Trefzger wrote 7,606 words, had 85 errors with 425 deductions.

Last evening the gentleman was accompanied by R. H. Peck of Peck & Reed, proprietors of the Brown's business colleges and the gentleman gave a brief history of the young German lad who came to the college in Peoria a poor boy nine years ago and wanted to take a course. The lad's mother had laid a little, the boy carried tapers and did everything he could to get along and he did get along. He obtained a position with a business house but was persuaded to give it up and go to St. Louis with the business college exhibit. Later he was court reporter but gave that up to become a typewriter expert. He visited England and won the championship of Europe three times.

Six years ago the world's record was 87 words a minute and it has grown from that to 125.

Last evening Mr. Trefzger seated himself before a machine with keys minus letters and showed his wonderful skill. Mr. Peck explained that the requirements for students graduating in short hand and typewriting were fifty words a minute on the machine and 115 short hand.

First the expert easily rattled off 115 words a minute from copy, printed. Then he wrote like lightning he answered several questions propounded to him. While he was writing 133 words a minute he solved the following problem given him by the Journal reporter and must have been new to the young man.

Multiply 6 by 8, divide by 2, multiply by 3, subtract 50, add 2 and divide by 2. Answer 12, given promptly.

He then wrote a memorized sentence several times at the rate of 224 words a minute without error. He said he was so accustomed to the work that it was no very great strain.

The Stenotype

R. A. Belknap of St. Louis was in charge of this and was accompanied by the operator, Walter Pakey, a lad of 17 years old and who made no pretensions of being a stenographer. The machine makes a word with each stroke and uses characters or abbreviations which one must learn. The young man wrote all manner of difficult names from dictation and read his copy both forward and backward. He wrote at the rate of 588 words a minute and easily read his copy.

The work of both persons was highly commended and caused much wonder on the part of all present.

JAPAN HEROICALLY MEETING A DOUBLE AFFLICTION

Country is Ravaged by Earthquakes and Volcanic Explosions in the South and Famine in the North.

Tokio, Jan. 14.—Japan is heroically meeting a double affliction, famine in the north and earthquakes and volcanic eruptions in the south.

Ten million people are in need of food in Northern Honshu and Hokkaido and there have been many deaths from starvation.

In the south the islands of Kiusiu and Shikoku are in the grip of seismic disturbances. Craters had suddenly discharged great volumes of flaming rocks and ashes, carrying destruction and terrifying the southern half of the empire. Ashes are falling as far north as Osaka.

Although the fate of the inhabitants of Sakura Islands is not certain, it is believed the great majority of them have escaped in boats to the mainland. Many of the people of Sakura have escaped from the danger zone in a maimed and burned condition. A steamer which succeeded on Monday in touching the eastern coast of Sakura reports that it rescued 300 persons but was unable to take more. The police and soldiers of Kagoshima have made heroic rescues. Thousands perished by a rain of fiery stones knelt on the beach half submerged in water and gesticulated wildly to the steamers and fishing boats.

The heat is described as infernal. The refugees from Kagoshima fled across the heaving land caused by the rapid succession of quakes. The whole southern half of Kiusiu is enveloped in ashes and smoke. Sakura-Jima, however appears to be the only volcano dangerously active at present.

The emperor has ordered additional warships to proceed immediately to the affected district.

Fears Great Tidal Wave. The seismologist, Omori, has reported south. He thinks the greatest danger may lie in tidal waves. The eruption of Kirishima, in his opinion, would not be so serious as that of Sakura-Jima, because few people live at the foot of the mountain.

Advices from Nagano, capital of Nagano Prefecture and Asama-Yama. In the island of Honshu, report great eruptions. Asama-Yama is a lofty volcano about 90 miles northwest of Tokio, with a crater one thousand feet in diameter.

The scene is described as an inferno, smoke and flames soaring thousands of feet into the sky. In the Utsunomiya district the sky is overcast and every roof is covered with white ashes.

OLLIE JONES IS ACCIDENTALLY SHOT IN LEG WITH REVOLVER

Ball Enters Right Calf and Lodges Near Ankle—Is Taken To Home of Step-father.

Ollie Jones, colored, aged 17 years was accidentally shot in the right leg Tuesday night about 10 o'clock while at the residence of Charles Reed at the corner of Church and Marion streets. The ball entered the right calf and lodged near the ankle.

Capt. James Trahey, of the police department learned of the shooting and went to the residence to investigate the matter. The boy had little to say other than to state that the shooting was accidental. It seems that some boys were handling a revolver which they supposed was not loaded and when the weapon was discharged the bullet struck Jones. He was taken to the residence of his step-father, John Brown on South Main street. Whether or not the wound is serious has not yet been ascertained.

TRUNK MURDERS BAFFLE NEW YORK POLICE FORCE

Crime Committed Three Weeks Ago Has Given No Clue to Authorities

New York, Jan. 13.—Three weeks ago today a murder was committed in New York and another added to the list of so-called trunk mysteries that have seldom failed to baffle the detective talent of the metropolitan force. To all appearances the murder was of a most ordinary character, as such crimes run. Yet three weeks have passed without the authorities being able to find the slightest clue to the perpetrator of the deed. Even the identity of the victim has not been satisfactorily established. The precise manner in which the murder was accomplished also is in dispute.

The new heads of the police department are hard at work on the case and it is possible that in the course of time the mystery may be solved. Yet, if the person or persons who committed the murder of December 23 and placed the body of the victim in a trunk and dumped it in the gutter on Pitt street, on the East Side, are apprehended and convicted, something of a precedent will have been established in the record of New York's famous trunk murders.

Most persons are inclined to believe that this latest murder is likely in the end to stand with the other four unsolved trunk murders that have occurred in the metropolis in recent years—the East River pier trunk mystery, the murder of Father Kaspar, the Armenian priest; the killing of Elsie Sigel, and of Moses Sachs, the jeweler.

The East River pier trunk mystery happened fourteen years ago this month. Mayer Weissbard, an aged itinerant dealer in jewelry, was the victim. Weissbard was hurled into an East River pier, and was reasoned but side tenement. It was a small, old, rusty-hinged green trunk was found on the string-piece of one of the East River piers. He had been robbed of all money and valuables. No solution or anything approaching a solution of this mystery was ever made by the police and the murderer is still at large.

The mystery of the murder of Father Kaspar in February, 1907, still stands. His body was found in a trunk left in a lodging house in West Thirty-seventh street. Two men had hired rooms there, and after they had given up the apartments it was discovered they had left a trunk behind. As in this latest murder mystery, the victim had not been stabbed or shot or wounded in any way. The autopsy showed that he had been thrust into the trunk while alive. The supposition is he was dragged, forced into the trunk and the lid clamped and securely strapped above him. The motive for the crime was supposed to be robbery, although the priest was a poor man, depending for support on the small cash donations of the Armenians in this city and vicinity to whom he ministered. The police after many months' work abandoned all efforts to discover the murderers.

The Elsie Sigel murder, which occurred in June, 1909, is still fresh in the public mind. Her body was found in a trunk in a room above a Chinese restaurant. The young woman, a granddaughter of Gen. Franz Sigel of civil war fame, had gone into missionary work in Chinatown and ended by having several romances with her pupils. William Leon, a Christianized Chinaman, to whom she was reported engaged, disappeared, and the police have never been able to find him, though alleged clues to his whereabouts have been reported from time to time in Texas, California and other parts of the country. The evidence pointed to Leon as the murderer, chiefly because he was known to have been an intimate of the murdered girl and had occupied the room in which her body was found. The supposition is that the pair quarreled because Miss Sigel had received attentions from an aged and wealthy resident of Chinatown and that the younger admirer murdered her in the course of the quarrel. There is little real evidence to support this theory, however, and it is doubtful if the police could muster up sufficient evidence to convict Leon even if he were found. The mystery of the murder is likely to remain a mystery forever.

The authorities were also completely baffled in their attempt to clear away the mystery of the murder of Moses Sachs, who, like Weissbard, was an itinerant peddler of jewelry. The old man's body was found packed into a trunk that had been left on the doorstep of a tenement in Goerck street. The evidence indicated that the old man had been murdered for the money and valuables that he probably had about his person. But no clue to the perpetrators of the crime was ever discovered. Several arrests of suspects were made, but all were discharged for lack of evidence to hold them for the murder.

FARMERS ATTENTION

Geo. S. Gay, Jacksonville, Ill., wish to announce that they have arranged with the American Steel & Wire Company for a moving picture entertainment of great interest to the farmers. This is entitled, "The Furnace to the Farm," and deals with the manufacture of steel, especially the nails, barbed wire and woven wire fence used on the farm.

FALSE IDEAS OF LIFE DENOUNCED BY RECTOR

Rev. H. R. Neely Reviews Novel, "Inside of the Cup," in a Forceful Manner.

From the suggestive text: "O, man of God, there is death in the pot," 2 Kings, 4-40, the Rev. H. R. Neely, in his review of the "Inside of the Cup" took occasion Sunday to denounce plausible, but false and misleading views of life. It has come to pass that cleverness, charm and brilliancy are commonly regarded as sufficient tests of life irrespective of goodness, solidity, worth and sacrifice for the general good. Ideals are accepted, if they are interesting or presented in a striking, original manner rather than for their truth or productiveness. Dullness alone is regarded as inexorable. A man may be sentenced to prison for most serious crimes against innocent people, for offenses that entail wide-spread suffering among those least able to bear it, but if he is sufficiently clever to originate some new plan, such for example, as the printing of a prison journal, the chances are that petitions will be quickly circulated for his release on the ground, that he is much too valuable a member of society to spend his time in jail. This worship of cleverness, charm, physical beauty, ambition is practically a frenzy among a large class of people, who consider themselves and are generally regarded as highly honorable and worthy of high regard. Mr. Churchill in his book creates just such a character in "Alison Parr"—the heroine of his story. It is the glorification of cleverness and unbridled individualism at the expense of soberness, moral beauty and self-sacrifice. The ideals presented in the creation of "Alison Parr" are confessedly pagan—her own admissions as the preacher showed by abundant quotations. Her hostility to the most fundamental virtues of Christianity is clear as day. The representation of the Christian religion, under the disguise of attacking admitted abuses, evidently proceeds from an alien spirit and is nothing but clever caricature. It is high time Christian people should be no longer deceived by the thin pretence that "Inside the Cup" is an aid to Christian faith and morals. It is highly subversive of personal worth, purity of life, integrity of the home, the safety of the nation and the perpetuity of Christian principles and practices. No doubt its gifted author is entirely sincere, but he is carried away by the popular idea, that cleverness and brilliance and "living one's own life" in as much independence as possible should be our guides and ideals in life. This is not to the glory of God.

SEVERE ITCHING AND BURNING

Eczema Began With Pimples on Lower Limbs. Constantly Tormented. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Cured in Ten Days.

203 Walnut St., Hillsboro, Ill.—"My child had a breaking out on the lower limbs which developed into eczema. The eczema began with pimples which contained yellow corruption and from the child's clothing they were greatly irritated. They seemed to burn, which made the child scratch them, resulting in a mass of open places. They made her so cross and fretful that it was impossible to keep her quiet. They caused her to lose much sleep and she was constantly tormented by severe itching and burning. I tried several well-known remedies, but got no relief until I got a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, which did so much good that I got a large quantity that cured her in ten days after she had been afflicted for two months." (Signed) Mrs. Edith Schwartz, Feb. 28, 1913.

The bearers were Millard F. Dunlap, Gates Strawn, John J. Reeve, C. H. Russell, Dr. C. H. Rammelkamp, Dr. J. C. Widenham, Walter Ayers, W. E. Crane and E. E. Crabtree.

Many Floral Offerings. There was a most wonderful display of flowers and floral emblems sent by sorrowing friends and by the various fraternal organizations in which Judge Barnes held membership. At the church and at Diamond cemetery the flowers were cared for by Mrs. T. J. Pitner, Mrs. J. W. Lane, Mrs. Eugene G. Woodman, Mrs. E. E. Crabtree, Misses Lillian Davis and Mary Wadsworth. At the church in addition to the reservations made for members of the bar and fraternal societies were places for representatives of the Literary union. Wednesday class, Illinois College trustees, Illinois college faculty, and Phi Alpha society.

The church service began with the prayer of Rev. Howard D. French, pastor of the church and then a quartet, Mrs. Robert M. Hockenbush, Mrs. Wm. Barr Brown, Jr., Messrs. John L. Johnson and Robert M. Hockenbush sang, "Jesus Lover of My Soul." Then Rev. Mr. French read various passages from the scriptures and he was followed by Dr. A. B. Morley who made the address of the service. Dr. Morley had been for so long a time associated with Judge Barnes in fraternal organizations, in social relationship and in affairs of the church, that they had come into terms of most intimate friendship. So as Dr. Morley stood in the pulpit and spoke of the many qualities in Judge Barnes' life which had endeared him to many hearts and which had given him a strong and potent influence for good in this community and elsewhere, the minister did so with evident feeling. There was no disposition on the part of the speaker to picture the departed one as more than human, but he did attribute to him those many qualities of mind and heart, the splendid courage, the deep convictions and the serious views which made Judge Barnes conspicuous among men. Dr. Morley said: "One of his most noteworthy characteristics was a healthy interest he took in about everything that was going on or ought to go on. We are all in danger of losing this interest or leaving it to freeze into a mere form. The world is so great, the race is so large, life is so short and its moods so unsatisfactory it is difficult to do anything that lasts beyond the doing, and we seem to be so fated to live and die just as all the unknown have lived and died, that we are tempted to doubt the worth of living at all, and to let our interest in the good of others die out—to live merely for the selfish personal pleasures that can be got out of life—a pleasure that becomes more and more insipid with the passing of the years. This temptation found nothing in Judge Barnes. The impulse to live and to labor, the interest in living and laboring kept the fires of ambition burning to the last. To him to live was worth while. To do kind things, to enjoy the pleasures of life was worth while. Along with this zest for life and labor went a keen relish for the pleasures of domestic and social life. He never was happier than when surrounded in his home with his family and friends or in the church with Christian people. With the genuine intensity of one who believes in God and immortality and who therefore sees both the serious and joyful sides of life, he wrought at the forge until his hand could no longer hold the hammer and his fires went out.

Effect of Such a Life Will Continue. "Do I praise our brother too much? I love to praise him, for I praise through our Divine Master who made him what he was. Such devotion to duty and the best in life, such sacredness of purpose, such scorn of all shams, such love that filled his soul as the sun fills the dewdrop with light and shone out of him—it is a luxury to see such a life in a world like ours and to think of it and tell of it when it is gone. "But it is not gone. While any of us live who have seen and felt it, it can never go from us. Effect comes from such lives after we think their force is spent. I look for results of this life that is now closed on earth. I have stood on a river bank and watched a steamer passing and rounding a bend in the stream till she was lost to view. And then, when all was quiet and nothing left to be seen, but the river, there began to come in the long swell in the wake of the steamer, surging and breaking at my feet. There are waves of influence where such a man as this has passed out of sight that will roll on forever. "We somehow do not seem to know our friends till they are gone. I cannot judge a man while he is here. He is too near. He looms too large on men. I magnify, distort, misjudge. I may envy him, although he is my friend. I may grudge him while I congratulate him, or I may love him too well to be impartial. But at the grave passion and prejudices go. I can be jealous in life, but not in death. I can be cross and fretful to my child while he is here, but not when he is gone. Death readjusts things—helps us to see and know and do justice to those we have wronged.

The Way We Find Ourselves. "In the King's story of 'The Ship That Found Herself' it was only on the high seas, after she had been loosed from the shore, that she found that she was a ship and not a mere mass of bolts and bars and rigging. It is only when we are free from the restraints of earth and are on the high seas of God's life and are in holy comradeship of all the good that we find ourselves and are able to be what we are made to be.

"I therefore ask you to read in this coffin of perishable dust but of imperishable memory a lesson of hope, which may serve us in the coming days. The memory of this life is not all a remembrance of honor and friendship and good will. It is a promise of something better for us. Memory is a promise. All that has been is to be an inspiration. All that calls any man to look upward and see the real meaning of life is calling us still. Nothing perishes that is worth living. This triumph of the grave does not touch the forces and principles that made Judge Barnes what he was. Love and righteousness are still the twin words of every good life and those words can never die but we shall never see the deep meaning of love and righteousness until we are set free from the shore of this land of shadows and darkness and go forth on the great eternal sea of life with God. There we shall find ourselves and be ourselves in that land of pure delight.

"For though out our bourne of time and place, The flood may bear me far, I hope to see my Pilot, face to face, When I have crossed the bar."

Shadow Proves Light. "We gather here this afternoon under the shadow of a great sorrow. The untimely ending of this noble life drapes our city in grief. But the very shadow that falls upon us is the proof of light behind it. The trees cast no shadow in the darkness of the night, when no moon or sun is in the sky. It takes light to produce a shadow and the brighter the light the darker the shadow. What is the light that makes us so sad today? What is the brightness on this death that makes it so dreadfully dark? The light comes from what is called the close of life—from the carefully chosen words which the bible uses to describe death. The word is 'Departure.' It is a word from the sea, meaning the loosening of a ship from its moorings—not that it may reach harbor, but that it may go out from the harbor. It is not getting safe into port, but it is starting out from port on the great sea for which it was made and where it was meant to be.

"What is the picture of death which the bible prints? It is not marking the end of the voyage, but its beginning. To a Christian death is being released from the restraints of our earthly life and launching out on the placid sea of that 'peace of God which passeth all understanding'—not on a sea swept by storms of sin and sorrow, but on the smooth unlighted seas of God's love and care. It is going out into larger life for which we are created. It is the light of that larger life of joy and peace toward which our departed friend was ever looking and hoping that makes it so hard for us to part with him today. It lightened up his whole earthly pathway. He said little about it—nothing except to a few who sympathized with him in his upward, forward look. It gave him, and kept bright before him the high ideal of his profession. The law was to him one of the noblest callings. It is the sphere of justice. It is applying the curing influences of the Christian religion to the very roots of our social life. Like the preacher, the lawyer is the channel through which God pours down the blessings of the best civilization. "Such an ennobling ideal fitting a man's soul is that which makes life valuable and at its close leaves the keenest sense of loss.

Equipped With Varied Knowledge. "The profession of law was, therefore, to Judge Barnes a sacred trust to be scrupulously guarded. Upon his advice men risked their character and fortunes and he must be true to the trust at every cost. As the law controls all relations of life and settles the rights and wrongs of all classes and conditions and pursuits, he tried to equip himself with every kind of knowledge outside and inside his profession that could throw light upon the questions that were up for decision. This high, holy regard he had for his profession made him strong in argument, conscientious, able to draw from a well stocked armory of principles to meet unexpected testimony which could hurt or help. By his trained ability he could see and analyze amidst the mass of conflicting evidence, the truth of the case. He thus stood in the front rank of our lawyers. And that bright fact increases the pang of our parting.

"In politics, in religion, in daily life, he had decided opinions, which he would state frankly and positively where there was occasion for it, but he was so free from narrowness that he could feel kindly toward those who differed widely from him.

"Naturally, he was ambitious of honor. The lights from beyond filled him with the noble ambition to make the most of himself and win the confidence of others. He showed that ambition in his admiration for the order of Knights of Pythias, in his loyalty to his principles, in treasuring up the lessons it taught and prizing the friendships it fostered. And his brother knights showed that he had won their confidence by elevating him to the highest office and honoring him today by their presence and by their grief over his loss. He looked upon his membership in the several fraternities to which he belonged as a valuable asset of his life, as a good paying investment of time and thought, bringing to him so many friends and opening up so many opportunities of helping up his fellow men.

Stalwart In Christianity. "But after all it was as a Christian man and as a member and officer in the church that he showed those qualities which, unobserved to many, rounded out his character and gave it the charm to those who really knew him. All that brightness of his life deepens our sorrow.

When Dr. Morley concluded the quarter song 'Abide With Me' and Dr. Morley closed the church service with a few sentences of prayer. The long cortege moved from the church to Diamond Grove cemetery where the impressive Pythian committal services were carried out under the direction of L. O. Vaught as chancellor, commander, Frank Byrns as vice chancellor and C. H. Russell as prelate. The grave was made beautiful with the flowers and floral emblems and some were placed on other graves.

Among those here for the funeral services were Mrs. James Martin of St. Louis, mother of Mrs. Barnes, Mr. V. B. Eason of Freeport and Dr. J. G. Eason of St. Louis, brothers-in-law of the deceased; Mrs. Tucker of Freeport, a niece; Mrs. Anthony and Charles Barnes of Peoria.

U. S. COURT OF APPEALS AFFIRMS FINDING OF LOWER COURT

Wright Brothers Win Suit Against Herring-Curtiss Co. For Infringement of Certain Patents.

New York, Jan. 13.—The decision of Judge John R. Hazel of the United States court at Buffalo, reached on February 26, last, that the Wright Brothers were the pioneer inventors of what is known as the "warping system" of lateral control and the first men to fly heavier-than-air machines, was affirmed today by Judges Lacombe, Cox and Ward of the United States court of appeals in this city. They reached this decision on reviewing the complaint of the Wright company against the Herring-Curtiss company. The findings of the lower court, which resulted in a permanent injunction restraining the Herring-Curtiss company from the manufacture and sale of aeroplanes, in which contrivances patented by the Wrights had been applied, was sustained. The suit, which has been in court for several years, was based on the contention of the Wright company that the eight-claim patent in the patent protecting their warping device, four had been infringed by the Curtiss aeroplane.

SUPREME COURT WILL CONSIDER COMPENSATION FOR LOSS OF LIFE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Compensation for the stupendous loss of life and property when the Steamship Titanic sank will be up for consideration tomorrow by the supreme court. On the outcome of the agreement of some of America's leading lawyers will depend whether or the Oceanic Steam Navigation company, the owner of the Titanic must face the payment of some $13,000,000 of claims or whether its liability is to be limited to some $50,000.

The navigation company seeks to have the American court hold the admiralty laws and rules of the United States applicable to the case and thereby limit the liability of the company to the salvage from the wreck and the passenger and freight money received on the voyage, amounting in all to some $50,000.

ESS WILLARD IS ACQUITTED BY JURY AFTER LONG DELIBERATION

Decision May Render Participants in Boxing Matches in California Immune From Prosecution Under Present Law.

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 12.—Jess Willard, the heavyweight pugilist, on trial charged with prize fighting, was acquitted by a jury today after an all-night deliberation. The charge was the result of the death of John Young, after a bout at the Vernon arena with Willard August 22.

Attorneys for the boxing promoters said the jury's action in exonerating the pugilist would render participants in future boxing contests in California immune from prosecution so long as the present law remained unamended.

ST. LOUIS FEDERAL CLUB WILL USE HADLAN PARK COMING SEASON

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 13.—Lloyd H. Rickard, secretary of the Federal Baseball League announced tonight that the St. Louis Federal Club had closed a deal whereby the club acquired the use of Hadlan park for the season of 1914.

He would not say this meant the purchase of the park, however, despite persistent rumors to that effect which prevailed in Chicago and St. Louis all day. A conference between the park owners and the Federal league representatives, which began early in the afternoon lasted late in the night. No statement of what transpired was given out.

Mr. Rickard said work on the park would commence at once and that when the season opened it would have a seating capacity of at least 20,000.

Hadlan park is located at Grand and LaCade avenues, almost the exact center of the city.

FOR DELICATE CHILDREN

A Mother's Letter to Mothers.

Mrs. E. W. Cooper of Bloomfield N. J., says: "My child, seven years old, had a bad cold and was weak and quite run down in health. She had been in this condition for about six weeks and began giving her Vinol. It was a wonderful help to the child, breaking up her cold quickly and building up her strength beside. I have also found Vinol a most excellent tonic for keeping up the children's strength during a siege of whooping cough."

Vinol is a wonderful combination of two world famed tonics—the medicinal body building elements of cod liver oil and iron for the blood, therefore it is a perfectly safe medicine for children, because it is not a patent medicine, everything in it is printed on every package, so mothers may know what they are giving their little ones.

Therefore we ask every mother of a weak, sickly or ailing child in this vicinity to try Vinol on our guarantee. Lee P. Alcott, druggist, Jacksonville, Ill.

P. S. Our Saxo Salve is truly wonderful for Eczema. We guarantee it.

STEWARDS OF GRAND CIRCUIT DECIDE UPON RACE SCHEDULE

Races in Big Circuit Will Probably Start July 20 in Cleveland.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 13.—The stewards of the Grand circuit in session here today, decided upon the following schedule of racing for the coming season which will probably start upon July 20.

August 31—Syracuse (New York State fair.)

September 7—Hartford (Conn. State fair.)

September 14—Detroit (Michigan State fair.)

September 21—Columbus (two weeks.)

October 8—Lexington (two weeks.)

It was announced that the week of July 6 has been awarded to New York and the following week to Salem, N. H. These are tentative dates, however, and Secretary H. J. Kline will take them up with the two associations. If not satisfactory to them the meeting will open as previously planned at Cleveland on July 20.

It would not hurt the neighbors in the Cross and neighborhood to make him up a small purse of twenty-five or fifty dollars and donate him as the wolves do the neighbors more damage than that amounts to.

Mac Sheppard of Murrayville was a Wednesday visitor with his father, J. J. Sheppard.

Mrs. I. D. Sheppard of Woodson and Mrs. C. C. Sheppard of Oakland, Calif., were Thursday evening guests with Mrs. C. C. Sheppard's grandfather, J. J. Sheppard.

NO MATERIAL CHANGES TO BE MADE IN 1914 FOOTBALL RULES

BOSTON, Jan. 13.—No material changes will be made in the football rules for next season in the opinion of Edward K. Hall, chairman of the Inter-collegiate Football Rules committee.

"I have heard and received no complaint against the present set of rules governing football," he said today. "As far as I know no changes will be recommended at the meeting in New York. It seems to be the almost unanimous opinion of football men and of the intelligent football public that the game at present is satisfactory."

"Until it has a much more complete development, it would hardly seem wise to consider any fundamental changes. Wherever and whenever there has been any discussion of the merits of the game played last fall there has been no suggestion that any basic change would be made in the rules."

ANNUAL MEETING OF GRAND CIRCUIT.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 13.—The stewards and secretaries of the Grand Circuit got together here today for their tenth annual meeting. Before the meeting adjourns it is expected that the schedule will have been arranged and all other preliminaries perfected in connection with the coming season of harness meetings along the "big line." The general expectation is that the circuit will be opened in Michigan as usual and that Detroit is likely to be restored to her place as the initial link. From Michigan the line of march is likely to be to Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Buffalo, and down toward the East through Syracuse, Hartford, Readville, Salem perhaps, Providence and then west again.

WORLD'S LATEST FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

MARKET OVERCOMES EARLY TENDENCY TOWARD LOWER LEVEL

Feature of the Trading Is Further Loss In New York Central, That Stock Reaching Lowest Level Since 1896

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—After overcoming an early tendency toward a lower level stocks held firm today. The market at times felt the effect of free selling in spots but offerings were well taken. While the standard shares moved narrowly, some of the stocks which ordinarily are closed in the inactive list were strong. Securities of the independent steadily advanced again made a good showing and there were further advances in the fertilizer petroleum and local traction issues.

A feature of the trading was the further loss in New York Central which brought down the price of that stock temporarily to 88%, its low point since 1896.

Engagement of $2,000 gold for export to Paris while not expected at this time had little influence on stocks. Cash has been accumulating rapidly of late and the influx is expected to continue for some time. In the absence of any unusual development the local money market is not likely to be affected by shipment abroad of a moderate amount of gold. The call money market was not influenced, renewals being made at 2%.

The last previous engagement of gold for Paris which on July 16, closing a movement of $43,000,000 to France and a total export movement of $66,000,000 to Europe and South America.

Kansas City Livestock Market.
Kansas City Stock Yards, Jan. 12.
—The fact that beef cattle have worked 50 cents higher in the last four or five weeks together with
good feeding weather has stimulated trade in stockers and feeders, and prices ruled 10 to 20 higher last week. Illinois men paid $8 to $8.50 for choice feeders, weighing 1050 to 1100 lbs. and Iowa feeders also took out some good steers, indicating that spring fat cattle prices look promising to stockmen. Trading was active in all classes, and 13000 head were taken to the country, as compared with 9000 head same week a year ago. Stock calves sold up to $8.25 and $8.50, as high as any time this fall. Cattle receipts today were 14000 head here, prices steady to a shade lower on killers, steady on stockers and feeders, sales of stockers and feeders mostly $6.50 to $7.50. Further gains this week and next would be the usual proceeding for the stock or market for January. The supply here today embraces cattle from a wide territory, including pulp fed steers from Colorado sugar mills, meal fed cattle from Cottonseed Oil Mills in Oklahoma and Texas, besides the usual mixed contingent from nearby states, and the moderate total reached points to the impending scarcity of beef cattle at this market. Two thirds of last week's supply arrived first two days of the week. J. A. Rickart,

WILL ORGANIZE CHAUTAUQUA ASSOCIATION PERMANENTLY

By Law Proposed at Meeting Held Tuesday Afternoon—Booster Banquet Planned for Next Tuesday Night.

A meeting of the Chautauqua guarantors and ticket subscribers, was held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms yesterday afternoon and steps were taken toward forming an independent organization. The attendance was not as large as it should have been though a goodly number answered the request to be there. Those present were John Merrigan, M. A. Hallett, James Ranson, G. E. Doying, C. R. Knollenberg, A. C. Rice, C. S. Black, Dr. C. H. Rammelkamp, Mrs. O. E. Tandy, Miss Buck, Mrs. J. T. Smith, E. J. Howell, Charles Story, Dr. C. E. Black, P. B. Fritchey and S. W. Nichols.

Will Have Banquet.

J. A. Shaw was present and spoke on the importance of getting into good shape in plenty of time and of having a good number of people behind the enterprise and interested in it.

A number spoke and all were in favor of going ahead with the affair the coming summer and making it a success. Mr. Shaw suggested a booster banquet at a moderate price and said it had succeeded finely in other places. He thought if a good number could thus be gotten together it would help the matter along.

Others thought that possibly it might be well to limit the attendance at the banquet to have it restricted to the ticket subscribers and guarantors but it was finally decided to have it open to the public. There was much earnestness displayed and while the attendance was not large it was enthusiastic and anxious for the success of the chautauqua.

The meeting voted to subscribe $25 as a guarantee fund for the coming banquet so that there will be 100 places taken.

Mrs. O. E. Tandy, A. C. Rice and S. W. Nichols were made a committee for the banquet to be held in Odd Fellows' hall on West State street Tuesday night, January 20.
